1 year 9 months in days

Jodie Griggs/The Image Bank/Getty Images The longest day of the year occurs on the summer solstice, which takes place in June in the northern hemisphere and December in the southern hemisphere. The solstice occurs between The 20th and 21st century. The solstice occurs due to the axian tilt of the planet. As the Earth orbits the sun, its northern hemisphere takes turns leaning towards or away from the star. When one hemisphere tilts towards the sun, it experiences longer days and warmer temperatures. The day when the wasps are tilted furthest towards the sun is the solstice, and therefore the longest day of the year. Because hemispheres tilt in opposite directions, the longest day for the northern hemisphere is the shortest for the southern hemisphere and vice versa. So, you said goodbye to 2020, made decisions, watched a few favorite New Year's movies, had a delicious New Year's brunch (and, okay, even indulged in some leftover Christmas candy). As you look ahead to 2021, you probably have one current question on your mind: Which stores are open on New Year's Day? We often wonder the same thing, which is why we took the time to put together a list of all the stores that will open their doors on the first day of the year. If you want to call a few items in the store after ringing in 2021, we will not judge you; After all, it takes a little shopping to prepare for a month of self-improvement. Actually, it's practically a New Year's tradition! Groceries for a month of healthy dinners? Check! Yoga mats and exercise equipment? Check and check! Here you will find a list of chains of shops, restaurants and other chains along with all the currently available information about their opening hours for New Year's Eve and New Year's Eve 2021. Whether you want to have coffee at Starbucks, do a few tasks at Walmart, or just wander the aisles at Target, here's where to expect the start of the new year: Grocery stores and stores open on New Year'sAldi: Last year, the grocery store chain opened with limited opening hours on New Year's Day, but closed its doors on January 1.
